Dantzick, April 2.

OUr Letters from Warsaw of the 26th past tell us, That a Turkish Chiaus was arrived there, and had had Audience of the Mareschal of the Crown, and that he had, in the name of the Grand-Signior, demanded a free Passage for 50000 Tartars, through the Polish Territories, to Silesia: and that the Ambassadors of the Duke of Courland had at last obtained the Investure of that Dutchy, upon this condition, That what has been now done shall not be drawn into President, but that for the future the Duke of Courland shall come in Person to desire the Investure.

Genoua, March 31. Yesterday Morning arrived here the Industry, Captain Croford, from Alicant and Majorca. Several Dutch and French Ships are likewise arrived here since our last.

Vienna, April 1. They write from upper Hungary, That the Turks will be very early in the Field; That they have Posted 15000 Men near the Bridge of Esseg, to maintain that passage into the Lower Hungary, which is of great Importance. The Margrave of Baden is gone to Raab and Comorra, to visit those places, and to see they be provided with all things necessary for their defence. The Rebels have had a design to make an Incursion into Silesia, and to prevent them, the Emperor has sent thither Lieutenant-General Schutz. This week arrived here two Hungarian Gentlemen, who came to represent to the Emperor the great danger the Isle of Schutz is in, the Turks being resolved to revenge the Disgrace they suffered in their last attempt, and the Imperial Troops that are Quartered there not being sufficient to secure the said Island, whereupon the Emperor has ordered more Troops to March thither. Count Teckeley's Secretay, who has been some time here, is at last gone home, and in his Company the Baron de Saponara is again dispatched to Count Teckeley, who is at present at Mongatz, to make new Overtures to him, and withal to let him know, That this is the last offer that will be made him of his Imperial Majesties Grace and Pardon. We are every day expecting to hear from Warsaw of the Conclusion of the Offensive and Defensive Alliance between the Emperor and that Crown against the Turks, in consideration whereof the Emperor, as we are informed, quits the Pretentions he has upon the Poles on account of the 300000 Crowns which they promised the Emperor for his assistance in their last War against the Suedes, and which were assigned upon the Salt, but were never paid, and relinquishes the yearly Pention they are obliged to Pay the Queen Dowager of Poland, Wife to the Duke of Lorrain, and besides is to pay them presently 200000 Crowns.

Vienna, April 3. The Rendezvous of the Imperial Troops in Hungary is fixed for the 30th of this month, and the Emperor continues his resolution of being present at it: It is said that the Elector of Bavaria will be shortly here, and that he will accompany his Imperial Majesty to the said Rendezvous, and at the same time the discourse is renewed of his Electoral Highnesses Marrying with the Archdutchess the Emperour's Daughter. The Duke of Lorrain is expected here the ninth or tenth of this month, and in the mean time his chief Minister Monsieur Canon does adjust all Matters with relation to his Highnesses commanding the Imperial Army. The Palatin of Hungary is still here, soliciting the payment of 400000 Florins, which he is to receive for the raising 8000 Hungarian Horse, that are to be joyned to the Imperial Army, to which are likewise to be added 5000 Men, which the States of the Lower Hungary have promised to raise and maintain upon their own Charge. The Emperor has Published the Arrierban in Upper Hungary, with this condition, That those who are unwilling to come into the Field themselves, shall, instead thereof, pay so much Money to the Palatine of Hungary. The Letters we receive from Hungary tell us, That the Vizier of Offen has appointed a Rendezvous of all the Troops under his Command, on St. George's Day; That Count Teckeley has promised to bring Twenty Thousand Men into the Field, and that the Troops of Transilvania, Walachia, and Moldavia, and the Tartars, are to act against the Poles. They write from Warsaw, That the term for the sitting of the Dyet was again prolonged for six days, and that the Alliance between the Emperor and that Crown was not yet Concluded.

Ratisbonne, April 3. On the 30th past the Directors of the Colledge of the Princes reported the Answer of the Electoral Colledge to their last Declaration, the substance of which was, That the Electoral Colledge did persist in their Conclusion of the 12 of December, and that though they were not obliged to give any account of the reasons that moved them thereunto, yet they were willing to declare, That the consideration of the Safety of the Empire, which would be exposed to enevitable danger if a firm Peace was not established with the Most Christian King, had obliged them to take and to maintain this Resolution. The Colledge of the Princes having deliberated hereupon, have likewise resolved to adhere to their former Conclusions.

Strasburg, April 9. The Marquis de Chamilly, our Governor, is expected here very suddenly, several of his Servants being already arrived. The Baron de Monclar is going to make a turn in the Upper Alsace, and in the mean time the Troops that are to draw together, and to Encamp near Landaw, will have Orders to March thither. The ways between Lorrain and Alsace are repairing, and there
